Jeremiah Fredrickson declares victory in Assembly District 92

ELK MOUND, Wis. — Following the final results in Assembly District 92, Jeremiah Fredrickson will be the next representative to the State Assembly. Jeremiah Fredrickson released the following statement:

“Tonight, the voters of the 92nd Assembly District sent a clear message: it's time for new leadership that puts our families, our farms, small businesses, and Wisconsin first.

“I'm honored and humbled by the support we've received across Dunn, Chippewa, and Eau Claire counties. I want to sincerely thank the voters of this community for putting their trust in me, all the volunteers who donated, knocked doors, made calls, wrote letters, hosted events and just kept us pointed in the right direction. I also need to give a special thanks to friends and family for understanding the reason and the importance of me being gone during this campaign cycle and to my wife Jordan and kids for picking up the slack at home when dad had to be out campaigning.

“This campaign was never about me–it's about all of us: the students I taught, the athletes I’ve coached, the small businesses and the families that work hard to make the Chippewa Valley their home. It's about making sure the 92nd has a representative who shows up, listens, and fights for the people here in the Chippewa Valley.

“Tonight we celebrate. Tomorrow we get to work.”
