DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR WISCONSIN 25TH SENATE DISTRICT REVEALS #1 CAMPAIGN QUESTION (IT'S MORE HIGH BROW THAN YOU CAN IMAGINE)

OCT. 08, 2026

WASHBURN, WI – In a new tell-all video released on social media, Charly Ray has confessed what has become a top concern of local political watchers throughout the district. The Democratic candidate for the 25th District Wisconsin State Senate, says he has “seen the comments” and has responded with a compelling statement about top priorities and personal freedom.

Those comments aren’t about any issues in front of his face. They are about something on his face.

Yes, people are talking... eyebrows.

“Are those two caterpillars trying to meet up?”

“With eyebrows like that, dude doesn’t need airbags.”

“For the love of god, trim those eyebrows.”

The comments may seem low-brow, but Ray refuses to be brow-beaten, saying this about his distinctive facial hair:

“Like data centers, there has been little oversight. Like our public schools, maintenance has been under-funded.”

Another commenter noted “... dad always said ‘Can’t see the forest for the trees. Now I know what he’s talking about.’”

A professional forester, Ray said he has been fortunate to be able to see the forest – and the big picture – all his career, a quality he will bring to Madison.

There's not much high brow about Charly Ray. Just a common-sense candidate comfortable in his own skin – and eyebrows.
